Natural humidification through evaporation technology, output up to 800 g per hour

White

Humidifier Noah uses the evaporation principle to provide up to 8 deciliters of water per hour for a natural, even air humidification in large and high rooms. Four humidification levels plus turbo function enable a rapid increase in humidity with low power consumption. An optional scent can be distributed throughout the room with the fragrance container. Humidity, water level and other device functions can be monitored and controlled via app.
